

As an NDIS participant in our service, Disability and Mental Health Care Pty Ltd , we need your consent to collect, store, and use your personal information to effectively deliver services. Please review this form carefully along with the Service Agreement, and sign it if you agree to the stated terms.

1. Protection of Your Sensitive Information

We respect your privacy and dignity. Thus, we only collect sensitive information like health, medical, and disability-related information when it's needed for service provision and only if:

- a. You provide explicit consent, or
- b. We're legally required to do so.

2. Your Consent

Before you give consent, our Workers will explain how we will use your data and who it may be disclosed to. They will ensure you understand everything clearly, providing assistance such as interpreter services or legal aid, as necessary. This consent can be amended at any time.

3. Informing You about Your Information

We will regularly inform you about how your information is used and stored. You have a right to access, correct your data, or lodge a complaint. Should you prefer, we encourage your involvement with family, friends, or chosen community in this process.

4. Information Collected

We may collect the following personal information: Participant details, Identifiers, Service details, medical information, Financial information, and Interaction records. We may collect recorded material such as audio/visual formats.

5. How We Collect Information

We may gather your information from our website, your correspondence with us, forms filled by you, face-to-face interactions, events, third-party referrals, or government agencies.

6. Purpose of Information Collection

We use this information to customise your support plans, answer inquiries, manage and improve our services, adhere to legal obligations, inform you about our activities, perform research, and improve your website experience.

7. Third-Party Disclosures

We may disclose your personal information without your consent in certain circumstances. This includes situations where there is an immediate risk of harm to you or others, or if required or authorised by law. Additionally we may share your personal information with organisations such as the NDIS Commission, funding providers, external auditors, regulatory bodies, law enforcement, courts, financial institutions, or external service providers, as necessary for service provision, legal compliance, or based on your authorisation.

8. Access to Your Personal Information and Complaints

The Disability and Mental Health Care Pty Ltd Privacy and Information Management Policy includes information about how you can access your personal information we hold, and how to make a complaint about a breach of your privacy or the Privacy Act, which will be dealt in accordance with our Feedback and Complaints Policy.

9. Handling of Privacy Breaches

Any breach or alleged breach of your privacy will be taken seriously. Such incidents will be reported and managed as per our Incident Management Policy.

10. Contacting Us

For questions, concerns, or to request a copy of our Privacy and Information Management Policy, Feedback and Complaints Policy, or Incident Management Policy, please contact us at 0488114368 or thapasupreeya3@gmail.com.
